

WILLIMANTIC

BOY SCOUT DEMONSTRATION

To be a Feature at Recreation Park This Afternoon.

There was little doing in Willimantic Thursday except for the events of the big day in the celebration which is lasting all the week. Today will see many re-unions, and in addition there will be a most interesting Boy Scout exhibition on Recreation Park grounds at two o'clock, with specimens of camp raising, cooking, walking and various methods of first aid. A large number are expected to attend this event.

JUDGMENT SUSPENDED

Court Disposed to be Lenient on Holiday in Dealing with Two Cases.

Two cases were disposed of in judgment court Thursday morning. Judgment was ordered suspended in the case of Harry Kasman, charged with a violation of the traffic rules. Kasman left his horse unhitched in front of the Jordan block, and the animal wandered across the trolley tracks about the time one of the South Coventry cars was approaching, necessitating the stopping of the car. Kasman protested his ignorance of the rules, and said he went into the store to help a clerk bring out an ice-box, and there was no convenient place to hitch on account of several teams being in the way. Patrick Clifford was before the court under charge of intoxication, and for annoying his sisters while in that condition. Judgment was suspended in this case, but he was told that a heavy fine would be imposed upon him if he was arrested in this city again.

Fell From Cherry Tree.

Philip, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Buck, is suffering from the fracture of one of the bones in his foot, sustained when the youngster fell from a small cherry tree in the yard of his home Wednesday.

Return After 40 Years.

Among the visitors in town Thursday were Miss M. Jackson of New York city, and Mrs. M. E. Sharpe of Hartford, daughters of Lyman Jackson, an old resident of Willimantic, who lived on Jackson street when it was known as Mansfield road, and after whom the street was named. The ladies left Willimantic some forty years ago, and are greatly enjoying their visit with former friends and acquaintances.

AT RECREATION PARK.

Procession Marches Around the Track, Deploying Opposite Grandstand.

Recreation park presented a beautiful sight following the parade, when the procession marched around the track and deployed opposite the grandstand. The uniforms of the soldiers and of the bands and societies, with the many floats and the vast concourse of people, the grandstand filled with those who were fortunate enough to secure admission there, the large numbers of automobiles, and the distinction

New White Skirts
$2.00

Another shipment of White Skirts has just arrived, made of white cotton Gabardine, flare effect, side pockets, trimmed with covered buttons. While this skirt is not an expensive skirt it will answer the purpose of a higher priced one for many occasions, because it is made and finished on the same plan as one that would cost just double the price.

gushed visitors assembled about the small speaking stand just north of the grandstand, all contributed to the splendor of the ensemble. Recreation park is a big place, but it was pretty well filled Thursday.

Order of Exercises.

A short programme was carried out there, beginning with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner by pupils of grades 5 to 8 of the public schools. Then came a flag drill by the girls of the Willimantic schools, followed by the address of ex-President William Howard Taft. The singing of America by the audience completed the programme.

Then the vast crowd began to swing back to the city proper, and from that time until late at night the streets were filled with eager pleasure seekers and a general feeling of gaiety was abroad. The Krause shows on Windham field came in for a big night, the grounds being thronged by a crowd eager to have a good time.

KEYS OF NEW HIGH SCHOOL

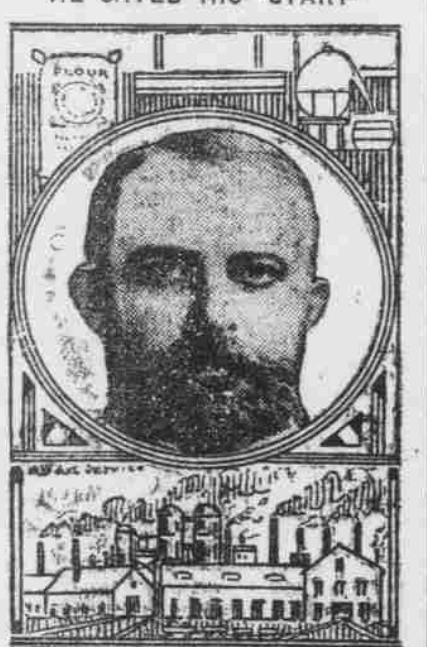

Formally Turned Over to Town—Graduating Exercises Class of 1915—Winners of Welch Prizes.

A feature of the evening was the graduating exercises of the class of 1915 at the Windham High school, held in the auditorium of the building. Admission was by ticket and the hall was filled. The address was by Hon. Amos L. Hathaway of the class of 1876 on Education for Citizenship and was ably delivered.

During the evening the keys of the new high school were formally turned over to the town by the building committee, and the following were named as winners of the John B. Welch prizes: first prize, Grace Wyman of Mansfield; second prize, Ruth Green of Tolland.

Following is the programme: Overture, Lucia Lathrop; Donizetti, high school orchestra; C. Clinton Holmold director; salutatory address, Cecilia Muscaden Morin; The Value of History as Presented in High School, Grace Katherine Wyman; Love's Old Sweet Song, Molly, girls' glee club; Charles H. Caswell director; address, Education for Citizenship, Hon. Amos L. Hathaway, class of 1876; A Dardie's Dream of Home, Smith, mandolin club; vaudeville address, Marjorie Burnham; The Last Act, high school chorus; presentation of the Welch prizes; delivering keys of new building to the town, George F. Taylor, chairman; re-

HE SAVED HIS "START"

HENRY CLAY FRICK
Who Refused to Follow His Grandfather and Became the Head of Great Industries.

An associate of Andrew Carnegie, head of the H. C. Frick Coke Co., the largest coke producers in the world, Henry Clay Frick is a pattern for anybody to follow. His grandfather, a staid old miller and distiller, took young Frick to "give him a start in the world." Henry saved all of the "start," a few dollars, but could see no great opportunity in mill stones and whiskey stills. These processes were too slow for him, so he bought a small coke oven, added other ovens as he marketed his product, installed new devices, introduced new methods until his coke was famed as the best on the market. From that time on men begged him to take their money and put it with him.

Today the man who saved his little "start" heads a company holding nearly 40,000 acres of coal lands, operating 12,000 coke ovens producing when run at their capacity 250,000 tons a day. If opportunity met you on the street today and said "Take my hand and I'll lead you to a future bright with prospects of wealth, if you can but show me that you have, like Frick, saved a 'start,' how much could you show?

BANQUET AND RECEPTION.

Federated French Societies and Alumni of St. Mary's School Have Festive Gatherings.

The federated French societies and Alumni of St. Mary's school held a banquet and reception at the Center Street hall at eight thirty in the evening, at which about three hundred were present. It was the commemoration of St. John's day, as well, and the two events were thus celebrated together. Hon. Eugene J. Albert of Woonsocket, R. I., was the principal speaker of the evening, which proved enjoyable to all present.

S. Hale Baker's Pupils' Reunion.

In addition there was a reception and banquet of the former pupils of S. Hale Baker in the Y. M. C. A. building. There was a buffet lunch and a dance. The committee in charge included Nelson A. Daniels, Mrs. Dixon VanZant and Miss Dolly Stanton. There were about sixty present.

LINCOLN BUILDING AND BAPTIST CHURCH

POOREST OF ALL OF AUSTRIAN PROVINCES.

Galicia an Agricultural Region About Size of State of South Carolina, But With Big Population.

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Washington, D. C., June 24.—For months past dispatches from Galicia—armies have been doing such feats at arms as the modern world could not have dreamed of; the strength of great Russia swept over this Austrian crownland, driving its powerful armies over the plain in the north, over the central hills, up the southern slopes of the rugged Carpathians, on to their lofty, icy crests, beyond these crests, and hovered over the fertile prairie land of Hungary.

Here the wave spent its irresistible force, and over the dreary mountain rocks, above the clouds, amid the ice and snow and chill cold of early spring the flower of Russian and Austro-German strength began rolling backward toward the north, still locked in continuous grinding battle, until now the foothills have been left behind and the terrific contest is surging in the direction of Lemberg and the northern plain. The nature of this war theater that has beheld among earth's sternest, most bitter scenes is intimately described by William Joseph Shawalter in a statement prepared for the National Geographic Society. This writer says:

"Austrian Poland is practically embraced by the crownland of Galicia. This crownland is almost exactly the size of the State of South Carolina, but it has a population six times as great. If continental United States, exclusive of Alaska, were as densely populated as Galicia, we would boast of a population four times as great as that of Russia. And yet Galicia is the poorest of all the provinces of Austria. It lies outside the ramparts of the Carpathians, which rob it of the warm winds that otherwise would come to it from the south, and also turn back upon it the cold winds of the north. Thus these mountains give Galicia long, cold winters; short, wet springs; hot, blistering summers, and dreary, chilly autumns in the westward of history and the latter that is her capital."

"The glory of Poland's past and the hope of her future are Cracow and Lemberg, for it was the former that was her capital in the yesterday of history and the latter that is her capital."

ital today and which would be her capital tomorrow were Polish dreams to come true. In Cracow, the great city of Poland's past, the royal palace still stands; but it is used as a barracks and not as the home of a king. The cathedral is now the Valhalla of its departed greatness; for there sleep the kings and the heroes from the Jagellons to Kosciuszko. Not far away is the Kosciuszko memorial, one of the most remarkable memorials ever reared by the hand of man—a huge mound of earth brought by loyal Poles from every battlefield in the world consecrated with Polish blood.

"The country around Cracow is flat and is devoted almost wholly to small farming and trucking. The peasants dress in white jackets and blue breeches, and wear jackboots; their women folk, with large bright shawls and picturesque head-dresses, brigden and give spirit to the country-side. "From Cracow to Lemberg the traveler encounters good land; it is fairly level and entirely innocent of fences, boundary stones marking party lines, and tethers or herdsman keeping livestock where it belongs. The same pected that the shop will soon start up.

New Hartford.—Mrs. Clara Louise (Kellogg) Strakosch has bought of Olin and Carroll Murphy the Fred Terrell place of about eight acres, which adjoins her property.

Guilford.—The largest class ever confirmed here received confirmation on Sunday morning at St. George's R. C. church, Bishop Nylan of Hartford administering confirmation to 104.

Torrington.—Alphonse Hugret died suddenly Monday morning while sitting on the veranda of his home on Workman avenue. He had been in failing health for several months.

Midtown.—Rev. C. W. Flint, D. D., of Brooklyn, formerly pastor of the First Methodist church in Middle-town, has accepted the presidency of Cornell college of Iowa, a Methodist institution.

Wallingford.—Next month the grange will hold only one meeting and that will be on the evening of Thursday, July 15. For that evening Professor W. A. Henry will give a talk on a trip through various orchards of the United States.

New Haven.—Cattle Commissioner J. O. Phelps has received from A. D. Melvin, chief of the bureau of animal industry at Washington, D. C., a communication stating that New Haven county was considered free from the foot and mouth disease.
